SALMON RIVER.

From the Lewiston Journal, March 1st.

The bars of Salmon river between French creek ferry and the mouth of that stream, a distance of over one hundred miles, afford a field for successful mining during the winter months, and for several years have been more or less worked by Florence and Warren miners, when the season was too cold for operations in the latter camps.

To a great extent this winter mining has been confined to rocker work, whereby from $5 to $8 per day have been realized. But the careful observation and prospecting of these men during this time have brought to light the fact that higher up than the small waters of the river were around and near them in the high bars and benches along the river. On penetrating into these benches they had before traced deposits containing, in some instances, coarse gold and paying quantities. In many instances wages can be made by extracting this gravel, wheeling and carting it to the river, and washing it with rockers. But from recently an energetic few have sought to avail themselves of the waters of the small tributaries of the river by means of ditches and flumes. The character of these tributaries is such by reason of the deep canyons with precipitous and rocky banks, that ditching and fluming is expensive. Yet despite this obstacle companies have been formed and the work commenced and been progressed till several of these high bars and benches have been sufficiently tested to establish the fact, that nearly all of those where ditch water can be brought upon them will pay largely upon the investment, and give prospect of permanent mining for years to come. The few experiments heretofore made have shown such results as to induce many others to invest, till now almost every available tributary of the Salmon river, between the points above named, is located for its ditch water, and the ditches are fast being constructed, conducting the same upon the mining ground. We will instance some of these operations.

At the John Day creek, there are three ditches now constructed, all of whose waters are doing good work, yielding to their proprietors from $8 to $15 to the hand.

At Slate creek, one ditch is supplying the water for a saw mill capable of cutting five thousand feet of lumber per day, and supplying mining ground about a mile below, where good wages are being made.

At Rynch creek, a short distance below, one ditch supplies the claims of Sleppy & Co., who have realized a handsome income from their claims for more than two years past, and who have not begun to exhaust their ground.

From Skookum Chuck a ditch is being constructed to supply the ground on Horse Shoe Bend bench, which will cost $20,000 and perhaps more, as the ditch is large and much of it through rock, and the extent of fluming will require some 60,000 feet of lumber. The extent of ground to be supplied is sufficient for many years steady mining, and prospects well. This ditch is owned by I. Sbissler & Co. and Charles White, and will be completed before the first of June.

From the same creek a French company are constructing a large ditch to a high bar on Salmon river, about one mile above where the White Bird trail touches Salmon river, and they now have the greater part of their work completed. They have constructed a saw mill upon the same creek, where they manufacture their lumber for fluming. Louis Bancho & Co. are the proprietors of this enterprise. About one half mile below the White Bird trail are the Casabone claims, which employ six men averaging eight dollars per day, per man.

Four miles below this are the claims of Antoino Delaho, employing fifteen men, and averaging from $8 to $15 per day to the hand.

About one mile below this are the Napoleon claims, worked with hydraulic power, which have yielded regularly for upwards of four years past a good profit upon the labor expended.

Two miles further down the river are Pon's claims, employing eleven men, averaging from $10 to $15 per day per man.

There are still several other companies at work with creek water on different points of the river banks, between John Day creek and Long Bar. Among them is Charles Snyder & Co., four men making eight dollars per day per man.

Besides the companies we have named, there are upwards of one hundred men working with rockers along the river between Long Bar and French Creek, whose daily average for working time is from $2 to $8.

From Long Bar to the mouth of the river, we are told that about seventy five men are profitably employed.

We have cited enough to show that Salmon river and its banks are only beginning to be developed for gold deposits, and that each succeeding effort only confirms the opinion that this field of mining operations will have a permanent profit for many years hence.

But let it not be supposed that the Salmon river mines cease at French Creek as one goes up the stream. The little mining which has been done on the bars above that point has shown that the bars though smaller yet are richer than below. The bars worked above the forks yielded with rockers last season from $10 to $20 per day per man. One company of four men from Warrens went on to the bars of South Salmon in August last, and remained till November, and averaged each over twenty dollars per day during their stay there. There is evidently a continuation of these gold deposits up the Salmon to Lemhi, the new camp—most of which will be worked as facilities for working them increase—and the new and flushy camps of extreme richness become less frequent.

Let there be then, patience, energy and perseverance shown in rendering the facilities greater for mining on Salmon river, for we fully believe labor and capital bestowed in that direction will meet with a sure reward.

McCRACKEN'S LETTER.—The New York Tribune of the 7th ult. comments as follows on the McCracken letter:

George W. McCracken, of New York, is the man who wrote the letter to the President about the infamous conduct of our ministers and consuls in Europe, of which Mr. Johnson spoke to Mr. Seward, of which Mr. Seward wrote to Mr. Motley, of which Mr. Motley wrote to Mr. Seward, as to which the Senate inquired, and which we present to the public to-day. George W. McCracken, of New York, is the man who peeped through the key hole, who listened at the crack, who was up the chimney, and who has been dragged out from under the table by the nose. The Senate of the United States now has George W. McCracken of New York by that prominent feature which he has poked about so industriously, and if the Senate should pull it before letting it go, we hope that honorable body will take Major De Boots's advice and "pull it gently, gently, gently."

Who is George W. McCracken of New York? We have looked in vain for his name in the New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City directories. Nobody seems to know him, and probably nobody wants to know him. He is apparently the "utterly obscure person" that Mr. Sumner declared him. Indeed it is doubtful whether there is such a person as George W. McCracken, of New York, for even the man vulgar enough to write such a letter would scarcely be stupid enough to sign his true name. "Geo. W. McCracken, of New York," is possibly assumed to conceal a man who, though not ashamed to do a dirty thing, was ashamed to be known as its author.

Yet, upon such a letter as this, from beginning to end malignant, disgusting, and unmistakably false, Mr. Seward could question the patriotism of a man so distinguished as Mr. Motley, and ask him for a confirmation of the grossest slander. A letter which calls one of the representatives of the United States in Europe a flunkey, another a vulgar, ignorant fellow, another a common drunkard! It is surprising that Mr. Seward did not at once perceive that the President was insulted by such a letter, and inform Mr. Johnson of the fact. It is more surprising that he should have made it the basis of official action. When his correspondence with Mr. Motley was published it was believed that, though nothing could excuse the tone of Mr. Seward's letter he must have had some authority for supposing that gentleman to be no gentleman and a renegade. Yet, even this presumption, this apology for the Secretary, was unfounded. "George W. McCracken, of New York" was all the authority Mr. Seward had. George W. McCracken, of New York, is the mean little mouse which has crawled out of this mountain of scandal, and hereafter, we greatly fear, when Mr. Seward utters his prophecies of wars ending in ninety days, the implicit faith of his countrymen will scarcely continue unless he distinctly affirms that it was not George W. McCracken, of New York, who told him so.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 14.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March [illegible].—In the Senate, Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, reported adversely on the bill conferring on the [illegible] Court jurisdiction [illegible] the bankrupt bill. Trumbull said the law as passed gives sufficient jurisdiction on these points. The bill was laid on the table.

[illegible] bill [illegible] provide [illegible] District Court [illegible] the State of Nebraska, referred.

Stewart of Nevada introduced a bill to establish an assay office [illegible].

Henderson of Missouri introduced a resolution for the appointment of [illegible] to examine the [illegible] Printing Bureau of the Treasury Department, whether [illegible].

Williams of Oregon called up the House joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to refund certain discriminating duties levied since the 1st of January upon Hawaiian vessels and goods beyond the amount levied on vessels of the United States and [illegible]. Passed.

[illegible] of Nebraska introduced a joint resolution [illegible] Dakota [illegible]. Referred.

Cole of California introduced a joint resolution to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to lease certain property in San Francisco for Government purposes. Referred.

Henderson of Missouri reported from the Committee on Indian Affairs a joint resolution appropriating the [illegible] held in trust for the Choctaw Indians to satisfy certain claims of the loyal members of that tribe for losses sustained through their loyalty to the Government.

The Chair presented several memorials from the Legislature of New Mexico concerning affairs in that Territory, which were referred.

Harlan of Iowa introduced a bill relative to treaties with the Indian Tribes. It provides that hereafter the latter shall not be recognized as independent nations, but as municipal and domestic organizations, for which legislation shall be made in behalf of the United States subject to the approval of Congress before taking effect.

Adjourned.

In the House, the Senate joint resolution presenting the thanks of Congress to George Peabody was taken up. Harding of Illinois moved to strike out the part providing for a gold medal to be presented to Peabody. He declared in his remarks that Peabody had made a good thing by the rebellion and had given it aid and comfort. The amendment was rejected and the joint resolution was laid aside to be reported to the House.

The Senate joint resolution for the relief of the destitute of the Southwestern States, directing the Secretary of War to issue supplies sufficient to prevent starvation among the people of all classes, and appropriating one million for the purpose, caused a long debate.

Butler of Massachusetts offered a substitute which was to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert a provision appropriating $1,000,000, to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of War for relieving the widows and children of Union soldiers who was starved to death in the rebel prisons of Andersonville, [illegible] and Belle Isle. The Committee rose without disposing of the bill and reported back two other bills placing certain Missouri troops on equal footing with others in bounty, and presenting the thanks of Congress to Mr. George Peabody, which subsequently passed.

Banks of Massachusetts introduced a bill to effectually preserve the neutral relations of the United States. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs. Adjourned.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The New York Tribune's special says there is great rivalry for the Louisiana Marshalship. The emoluments of the office have increased to two hundred and fifty thousand dollars by the bankrupt act. A. J. Herron is assiduously pressed by prominent rebels conspicuous on the side of the New Orleans rioters. Gen. Frank Herron is urged by the most prominent Unionists, and would undoubtedly be confirmed.

The Committee on Indian Affairs met to-day to consider the nomination of Col. Taylor, ex-member of Congress from Tennessee, as Commissioner in place of Bogy, rejected. The impression prevails among Senators that he will be rejected certain.

Facts in possession of the treasury department makes it probable that the gold claimed by the Richmond banks was taken from the Government mints by Southern traitors at the commencement of the war. Mr. VanWyck will offer a resolution to submerge the gold in the treasury.

Great Flood in the Ohio and its Tributaries.

CINCINNATI, March 13.—A Knoxville, Tennessee, dispatch says it is estimated that the late flood damaged property to the value of over two million. Over two hundred persons were washed out of their houses in Knoxville. The damage to farms is very heavy. Many persons lost houses, grain and stock.

Reports from below represent that there has been great destruction of property by the flood in the Ohio.

In many places between New Albany, Indiana, and Evansville, Indiana, the river is thirty miles wide. Hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain have been lost. The country is covered with floating stacks of hay, wheat and oats. Nearly all the steamboat landing are under water and boats cannot make a landing. Shawneetown is completely inundated. In the lower parts of Cincinnati and Covington hundreds of houses are under water.

Missouri Affairs.

ST. LOUIS, March 13.—The Legislative Committee, appointed some time since to investigate the sale of the Iron Mountain Railroad, reported yesterday. The report reflects upon the conduct of Commissioners Farrar and Waite, but exonerates Gov. Fletcher. The minority report declares that Fletcher is responsible, and that the sale should be declared void.

From Mexico.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—Matamoras advices of March 9th say: Intelligence has been received from the interior of Mexico, dated at Queretero, Feb. 25, that on that day a column under the command of Maximilian marched upon the position occupied by the northern republican army. The Liberal General [illegible] was to make a junction with the army in [illegible] near Puebla, which place was occupied by the Imperialists under [illegible]. It is probable that the expected battle between Maximilian and the Liberals took place before the 10th.

Advices from Brazos to March 7th, say Cortina was reported at Mier with a decreasing force, one half consisting of Americans and foreigners. Report says he has only 60 men.

Pacific M. S. S. Co. Matters.

NEW YORK, March 13.—In the New York Assembly, yesterday resolutions were introduced in substance as follows: Whereas, It has been publicly and repeatedly charged that the directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company have falsely and fraudulently, with a view to accomplish private ends and depreciate the stock below the value it is represented to possess, and still represent the business of the Company as declining; and Whereas, It is represented that the alleged fraudulent doings created insecurity among shareholders, forcing many shares on the market at a great sacrifice; therefore, Resolved, That a Committee of two be appointed by the Speaker to examine and report upon the condition of the affairs and the transactions of the Company, and whether legislation is needed.

The Committee are empowered to summon and examine the officers, see the books, etc. In the money article of to-day's Independent there is a statement which is not denied, that the Company had to take 25,000 shares at $100 each to compromise debts loaned on the stock, thereby reducing the reserve fund to $[illegible].

Military Operations on the Plains.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's special says the expedition against the Indians in Kansas and Nebraska, under command of Hancock, is fully equipped, and will start from Leavenworth on the 10th. In view of danger in crossing the plains Hancock orders that all trains shall be organized for defense by electing Captains and other officers, enrolling teamsters and employees in company. Trains for New Mexico will rendezvous at Fort Laramie. Trains for Denver and other points west and via Smoky Hill, will rendezvous at Fort Harker. Trains for the Platte route will rendezvous at Fort Riley. None will enter the Indian country with less than twenty wagons or thirty armed men. In case of an attack the commander of the nearest post is instructed to furnish prompt assistance.

Central American Transit Company.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Central American Transit Company has mortgaged all its lands and property to W. H. Webb and issued thereon a seven per cent. convertible bonds for the purpose of raising money to carry on operations in dredging the San Juan river.

The Congress of Nicaragua adjourned on account of cholera at the capital. Capt. Bedford provided there by getting legislation on his concession.

F. Kurtz, commissioner, arrived yesterday on Ocean Queen with the Inter-Oceanic Railroad concession recently granted by Costa Rica to [illegible] and associates.

New York News Items.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The morning papers published a telegram from the P. M. S. S. Co. to the Speaker of the New York Assembly, signed by the Directors, denying the allegations of the resolutions introduced yesterday, declaring them to be utterly without foundation in fact, and, as far as they are aware, wholly without justification.

The [illegible] from San Francisco arrived yesterday.

There were sales yesterday of 1,100 sacks and barrels of California flour, and 1,000 California hides, all at private terms.

Gen. Schofield to Command at Richmond.

RICHMOND, March 13.—Gen. Schofield has issued an order assuming command of the District of Virginia under the reconstruction law. He says all officers of the existing civil government will continue to perform their duties until successors are elected. He says it is desirable that the military power should be exercised only as far as it is necessary to accomplish the object for which it was conferred. He appeals to the people and especially to the civil officers to render its exercise as light as possible by an impartial administration of justice.

Maryland Senator—Miscellaneous.

ANNAPOLIS, March 14.—The Maryland Legislature has elected Hon. Francis Thomas Senator.

It is said that Sir Frederick Bruce has advised the British Government to allow no more news of the Fenian rising to be transmitted by cable.

Atlanta correspondence says the prejudice against negro suffrage in Georgia is giving way. The people want the question settled so that Northern capital may flow in to develop the interests of the State.

Gen. Fullerton was examined yesterday by the Judiciary Committee regarding his knowledge of the impeachment charge. He testified regarding the Steedman and Fullerton investigation.

[illegible] Turner, late Judge Advocate of the war department, is very ill and is not expected to live.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—By the arrival of the bark [illegible] from Honolulu we have particulars of the loss of the British bark Golden Sunset. She sailed from New Castle, New South Wales, on the 10th of November, laden with coal, and having twenty passengers and a crew of eighteen men. On the 10th of December she made Birnie Island, one of the Phoenix group. On the following morning at about two o'clock, the weather being very thick, she struck on the reef off Enderby's Island. Everything possible was done to save the ship, but to no purpose. One seaman was drowned by the capsizing of a ship in launching, but the remainder of the crew and the passengers were landed in safety. The disaster is attributed to the incorrectness of the charts of this group of islands. The existence of Enderby's Island is laid down on the English Admiralty charts as doubtful, and in the chart belonging to Capt. [illegible] of the Golden Sunset, Phoenix Island is not laid down at all. The British Commissioners at Honolulu had investigated the circumstances of the disaster, and had acquitted the Captain and officers from all blame. The wrecked persons remained eleven days on the island, when they were taken off by the Kamehameha for Honolulu. One white man and two Hawaiians employed by a Guano company resided on Enderby's island and shared their provisions with the shipwrecked party. The vessel and cargo will prove a total loss.

The Golden Sunset was an iron vessel, 623 tons burden, with iron lower masts and wire rigging. She broke up on the 8th day after the wreck, and portions of her cargo of coal, as well as her cabin furniture and provisions were being washed ashore daily. Her passengers and crew arrived here to-day on the bark [illegible].

Thomas H. Dowling has commenced suit in the 15th District Court against R. S. VICTORIA, March 12.—The ship Mary Glover got off the rock yesterday and has been towed into Port Discovery. The bark [illegible] will probably go to pieces. The engine and machinery of the wrecked steamer Transport have been saved and will be brought to this city.

FROM OWYHEE.

We obtain the following from the Avalanche of the 2d instant:

W. J. Hill, of the Owyhee Ferry, informs us of Gen. Crook's movements. The rumors referred to last week had a little foundation. The campaign round Warner's lake and the head waters of the Malheur is going on as at first reported, though no big takes of Indians had yet been heard of. The command gobbled one small band of bucks the first day out from Camp Smith, which probably originated the rumor of a week ago. Gen. Crook has not permitted a single band, big or little, to escape thus far in his operations. Big or little, the figures are rapidly increasing on the wrong side of the ledger for "Lo, the poor Indian."

Beachey has been making a personal examination, this week, of the new route in course of improvement via Hall's Ranch and forks of the Owyhee to Camp McDermit. He found sufficiently advanced he will proceed to stock it for staging at once. The bridging may be delayed some on account of an [illegible] preventing teaming in South Mountain. The shortening of route proposed will save at least ten hours in time, provided the road is as smooth as the old one. The proprietors of the new road will do everything in their power to get the thing in a navigable way soon as possible.

The Oro Fino & Morning Star Mining Company expect to work its own mines the ensuing season. The company had placed its property on the market as the members thereof preferred other pursuits and only became possessed of the mines to secure themselves against losses that otherwise appeared inevitable. The semi-annual meeting of the stockholders comes off on the 16th inst. Business of much importance to every member of the company will be transacted, and they will consult their own interests by being present.

Pursuant to notice published, the members of the order of Odd Fellows met in Masonic Hall last Monday evening. The object of the meeting was to ascertain the strength of the fraternity in Owyhee, and if sufficient, to take initiatory steps to the organization of a lodge. The result of the meeting was that the initial measures to this end have been commenced, and it is anticipated that in a month or so, a lodge respectable in membership and members, will be established in Silver.

Developments on the Dashaway ledge are encouraging. Shaft is down seventy feet and tunnel started south. Vein of good quartz is disclosed in the tunnel of over three feet in thickness. It assays richly. None has been milled.

Mr. Smith, who owned fifteen feet in the Hays & Ray ledge, recently made sale of it in New York to P. F. Bradford, Esq., for $4,360—or $290⅔ per foot. The small amount owned made it no particular object to hold on longer.

Mr. Agnew is making some change in the amalgamators of the Shoonbar mill. When the roads and weather get so ore can be hauled, he will make a trial of Dashaway ore.

Col. C. Davis, of Ruby, obliges us with the following observations of the weather for the month of February. Four observations were recorded daily—at 9 A. M., at noon, at 9 P. M. and midnight.

The average temperature for the month was 23° above zero; the coldest day was the 14th, and averaged 7° above; the warmest was the 2d, and averaged 35° above. Only two days averaged below 10°, ten below 20°, and four averaged above 32°—or freezing point. Clear days, eight; cloudy and changeable, twelve, and stormy, eight. It was noticed that on the clear days the winds were from west and northwest, and the stormy ones south and southwest. The coldest observation was at 9 A. M. of the 14th, the mercury standing but 1° above zero, and the warmest on the 2d at noon, it marking 42° above.

The early part of this week was one of high winds, with considerable snow falling and piling in huge drifts. The streets give evidence of more snow than at any period of last winter, though persons who have resided and traveled in the mountains say that there is no more of the niveous substance now than then, but say it is heaped in larger drifts. The average depth, in a circuit of a few miles, is variously estimated at from four to six feet. The last instant was mild with a hazy sunshine.

The Tenure of Office Bill.

The following is the full text of the Tenure of Office Bill, as passed over the veto on the 2d day of March:

Be it enacted, &c. That every person, excepting the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, of the Navy, and of the Interior, the Postmaster General and the Attorney General, holding any civil office to which he has been appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and every person who shall hereafter be appointed to any such office, and shall become duly qualified to serve therein, is and shall be entitled to hold such until a successor shall have been in like manner appointed and duly qualified, except as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 2. And be it further provided, That when any officer appointed aforesaid, excepting judges of United States courts, and excepting those specially excepted in section one of this act, shall, during a recess of the Senate, be shown by evidence satisfactory to the President, to be guilty of misconduct in office, or crime, or for any reason shall become incapable or legally disqualified to perform its duties, in such case, and in no other, the President may suspend such officer, and designate some suitable person to perform temporarily the duties of such office until the next meeting of the Senate; and until the case shall be acted upon by the Senate, such person so designated shall take the oaths and give the bonds required by law to be taken and given by the person duly appointed to fill such office; and in such case it shall be the duty of the President within twenty days after the first day of such next meeting of the Senate, to report to the Senate such suspension, with the evidence and reasons for his action in the case, and the name of the person so designated to perform the duties of such office; and if the Senate shall concur in such suspension, and advise and consent to the removal of such officer, they shall so certify to the President, who may thereupon remove such officer, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint a person to such office. But if the Senate shall refuse to concur in such suspension, such officer so suspended shall forthwith resume the functions of his office, and the powers of the person so performing its duties in his stead shall cease, and the official salary and emoluments of such officer shall, during such suspension, belong to the person so performing the duties thereof, and not to the officer so suspended; Provided, That the President, in case he shall become satisfied that such suspension was made on insufficient grounds, shall be authorized at any time, by reporting such suspension to the Senate as above provided, to revoke such suspension and reinstate such officer in the performance of the duties of his office.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the President shall have power to fill all vacancies which may happen during the recess of the Senate, by reason of death or resignation, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of the next session thereafter, and if no appointment by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall be made, no such office temporarily filled during such next session of the Senate, such office shall remain in abeyance without any salary, fees or employments attached thereto until the same shall be filled by appointment thereto by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and during such time all powers and duties belonging to such office shall be exercised by such other officer as may by law exercise such powers and duties in case of a vacancy in such office.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to extend the term of any office the duration of which is limited.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall, contrary to the provisions of this act, accept any appointment to or employment in any office, or shall hold, order, exercise, or attempt to hold, order or exercise any office of employment, he shall be deemed and is hereby declared to be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and, upon trial and conviction thereof, he shall be punished therefor by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding ten years, or both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That every removal, appointment or employment made, had or exercised contrary to the provisions of this act, and the making, signing, passing and countersigning of any commission or letter of authority, for or in respect to any such appointment or employment shall be deemed and are hereby declared to be high misdemeanors, and upon trial and conviction thereof every person guilty thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $10,000, or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both said punishments at the discretion of the court; provided the President shall have the power after the adjournment to make out and deliver the commissions of persons whose appointments to offices have been indorsed and consented to by the Senate.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate, at the close of each session thereof, to deliver to the Secretary of the Treasury, and to each of his assistants, and to each of the Auditors, and to each of the Comptrollers in the Treasury department, and to the Treasurer, and to the Register of the Treasury, a full and complete list duly certified, of all persons who shall have been nominated to and rejected by the Senate during such session, and a like list of all the offices to which nominations shall have been made and not confirmed and filled at such session.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That whenever the President shall without the advice and consent of the Senate, designate, authorize or employ any person to perform the duty of any office, he shall forthwith notify the Secretary of the Treasury of it, and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury thereupon to communicate such notice to all the proper accounting and disbursing officers of this department.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That no money shall be paid or received from the Treasury, or paid or received from, or retained out of any public moneys or funds of the United States, whether in the Treasury or not, to any, or for the benefit of any person appointed to or authorized to act in, or holding or exercising the duties or functions of any office contrary to the provisions of this act; nor shall any claim, account, voucher, or certificate, warrant or other instrument providing for or relating to such payment, receipt or retention to be presented, passed, allowed, approved, certified or paid by any officer of the United States, or by any person exercising the functions or performing the duties of any office or place of trust under the United States, for or in respect to such office, or the exercising or performing the functions or duties thereof, and every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof, shall be punished therefor by a fine not exceeding a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding ten years, or both; said punishment in the discretion of the Court.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 15, 1867.

A Witness Against Them

In December, 1860, an important correspondence took place between Mr Lincoln then President elect, and A. H. Stephens afterwards rebel Vice President. This correspondence has recently come to light by the publication of a book containing certain of Stephens' letters and speeches. It began with a note from Mr Lincoln to Stephens, requesting the favor of a copy of a speech delivered by the latter before the Georgia Legislature and after the exchange of several letters between the parties, ended with a long epistle from Stephens asserting the right of secession and threatening withdrawal from the Union. As the infamy of the Vice President of the rebel government is complete already, these letters can add nothing to it; nevertheless they serve to more clearly expose the wickedness of the traitors, of whom Stephens himself, even at that time, was one. The inconsistency of the course of this man in first opposing or pretending to oppose secession and afterwards becoming one of the foremost actors in the rebellion, can be accounted for only on the idea that he was a rebel from the first, and that his efforts in behalf of the Union were a sham. This view derives additional [illegible] the correspondence above alluded to. Lincoln in one of his letters had assured Stephens that a Republican Administration would have no disposition to interfere in any way with those slaves in regard to which the South professed to be so sensitive; and that in this respect the South would be in no more danger than it was in the days of Washington. In his reply, Stephens confessed that he did not believe the Republican Administration would attempt to interfere with slavery in the States, but complained that the blessed institution was, by the triumph of the Republican party, "put under the ban of public opinion." In other words, the restriction of slavery to the limits it then occupied was a proscription of [illegible] which the South would not submit to. On this flimsy pretext then, they rebelled, and on this Stephens rested his justification for being a leading traitor. How entirely causeless the rebellion was, is thus shown by the admission of the man who held the second place in the rebel government.

In his letters Stephens also took pains to assert the "Democratic" doctrine in defense of the [illegible] he meditated. He declared that the States, under the Constitution, could never be coerced "by force;" that there was no "right or power in the General Government to coerce a State in case any one of them should throw herself back upon her reserved rights and resume the full exercise of her sovereign powers." Almost the very words which the Democratic President, Buchanan, and his Attorney General, Black, used in reference to the same subject. Here we find traitors justifying their conduct by a certain line of argument and on certain principles, and the men who were at the head of the Democratic party, then in power, asserting the very same argument and avowing the very same principles as the true interpretation of the theory of our Government. Does not this establish the fact beyond all cavil that the rebellion was the result of Democratic teachings and that the Copperheads of the North and the rebels of the South were and are members of one and the same party? The correspondence of which mention is made above, bears testimony against Stephens and his fellow-rebels, and against their friends and political allies.

Mr. Humason Again.—The friends of Mr. Humason are endeavoring to console him and his friends for his rejection by the Senate for the office of Collector of Customs at the port of Astoria, by asserting that he was betrayed by Senator Williams, who is alleged to have promised to secure his confirmation. Humason, they claim, was nominated for the place by mutual agreement between Senators Williams and Nesmith, as part of a compact in relation to appointments generally in Oregon. This is entirely untrue. Nesmith alone obtained Humason's appointment. This fact was stated two months ago by our Washington correspondent, "Dogberry," who has means of knowing whereof he speaks. And in a letter written by Williams himself to J. J. Hoffman, of this city, on the 13th of November last, the same fact is stated. He says: "Adams has been removed and Humason appointed in his place. This was done at the instance of Nesmith while I was away from the city. I do not know that it would have made any difference if I had been here." Humason therefore has Mr. Nesmith to thank for bringing him into this unpleasant position. There was an agreement between the Senators as to the appointment of a Register and Receiver for the new land office at LaGrande, and the agreement was fulfilled by the appointment and confirmation of one Republican and one Democrat. But Mr. Humason was not included in this arrangement. He should have known from the first that there was no probability of his being confirmed. But in his eager race for office his desire got ahead of his discretion, hence the ridiculous denouement at Astoria.

Cause of the Rapid Growth of States.—Between the years 1850 and 1860, the taxable property of the State of Illinois increased from $156,000,000 to $872,000,000,—a gain of four hundred and fifty-eight per cent. During the same period about 2,700 miles of railway were put in operation. Here is the great secret of this enormous growth. Prior to 1850, Illinois was poor. In fact, the State was bankrupt. Her resources were unknown or lying dormant, and her population comparatively small. But in the decade between 1850 and 1860 the State was threaded with railroads, with what result may now be seen. The average value of her lands is now fully five times greater than it was twenty years ago. In other States similar results have followed. Tennessee put twelve hundred miles of railway in operation between 1850 and 1860, and the result was an increase of one hundred and fifty per cent in the value of the taxable property of the State. Able statisticians ascribe most of the material progress of the great States of the Mississippi valley to railroads. An able civil engineer says "The cost of hauling by ordinary roads is seven times the cost by railways. The result of railroads on agriculture is therefore, in effect, to draw plantations along their routes to within one seventh of their former distance from market. A tract of land situated on the line at a distance of seventy miles from market receives a benefit equal to the cost of hauling its produce and its return supplies over sixty miles of common road, and this additional benefit is imparted to each acre of land." We present these facts in order to show what this State is lacking in to ensure its rapid growth in the elements of prosperity.

The town of Lewiston in Idaho Territory has been incorporated as a city. A mayor four councilmen, a recorder a treasurer and a marshal are to be elected in March. Whether the city has a sufficient number of citizens to fill these offices, has not yet transpired.—Oregonian.

Under the new Territorial suffrage law of Congress extending suffrage to all without distinction of race or color, we think we can find enough [illegible] to fill the offices for one term, and will try the experiment.—Lewiston Journal.

Just as we supposed. The Democracy everywhere will do the same thing, and will roundly abuse the Republicans for refusing to vote for, or to associate on terms of intimacy with the colored people.

The election returns from all but three small counties in Utah show the following result. Hooper, Mormon, 14,886; all others, 111. No race at all.

FROM IDAHO

The Lewiston Journal of the 1st publishes the following

PALOUSE MINES

Mr Davis Evans came in again on Sunday last from the Palouse mines, whither he is making regular trips with his train. He reports considerable work being done. The Chinamen have bought the Kelly claims and paid the cash down and are negotiating for the Clerick claim which is held at five thousand dollars. The Franklin Company are at work about a mile and a half from Goat creek and making an average of ten dollars a day to the hand. The Peterson Company is located on what is called Big creek and have good eight dollar diggings.

The snow has fallen recently to the depth of three feet, which with the freezing at night interfere somewhat with the working but there is no difficulty in traveling anywhere, the grass, timber and water being plenty. He recommends to his friends who may determine to go out prospecting, however, to wait for a thaw, say two or three weeks.

SNOW

The snow at Warrens is from five to six feet in depth—at Florence about the same depth. At Oro Fino about four feet, on the mountains this side of those camps it is from six to eight feet deep. On Craig's mountain, about four feet.

It has stormed much in these mountain districts during the last two weeks. There will be no lack of water for mining in these camps the coming season.

No snow on Camas prairie or on lower Salmon river, and none near Lewiston.

Sudden Death.—A man named Henry Parker, who has resided at Walla Walla for several months, died very suddenly, at an early hour on Tuesday morning last. Deceased was in rather indigent circumstances, and being lame from the effects of a gunshot wound, was kindly permitted by Mr Guichard to sleep in his store. On Monday night he went to bed as usual, and nothing more was known until an early hour in the morning, the clerk, who also slept in the store, heard a fall and subsequently groaning. On proceeding to ascertain what was the matter, he found that the deceased had fell out of bed and was lying with his face downwards. Medical aid was at once summoned, but before the doctor reached him life was extinct. The usual restoratives were applied, but without effect. After falling from his bed, deceased never spoke, and it is thought that he died almost instantly. On inquiry, we learn that deceased was a native of Canada, and came to this coast at an early day. He was a wagon maker by trade, and for some time was employed in the shop of Mr. Winesett, who speaks of him as a very fine man, with but one defect—that of drinking to excess. A J Miner, County Coroner, held an inquest on the remains, and after hearing the testimony of Dr Shoue and others, the jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from heart disease, superinduced by excessive drinking. Deceased was about thirty-five years of age, and was a remarkably fine looking man. The remains were interred on Tuesday afternoon, and were attended to the grave by quite a large concourse of citizens.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Sentenced.—The Idaho World of the 2d inst says:

Last Wednesday at 2 o'clock P. M., Michael Dunn, who was last week convicted of murder in the second degree, for having taken the life of Thomas McKay, was brought up for sentence. To the usual interrogatory by Chief Justice McBride, if he had anything to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed upon him, Dunn responded in a very calm, deliberate, easy tone, to the effect that he did not think his first trial a fair one, because 'the Court [Judge Kelly] took the case out of the hands of the lawyers and prosecuted it himself,' but the trial last given him he considered perfectly fair and impartial, for which he "thanked the honorable Court," and had nothing more to say, except that he did not think himself guilty of any crime. He then stood up for sentence. Judge McBride briefly addressed the prisoner upon the enormity of his crime, and pronounced the sentence that he be confined in the penitentiary for the term of twenty years. Dunn received the terrible judgment of the law without visible emotion, and was removed to prison.

The Natural Advantages of Virginia.—A Richmond letter says:

This city, situated as it is upon a cork screw river, sixty miles from deep water, and more than one hundred miles from a good harbor, can never be much of a commercial place, but its water power is immense, and it may become an important manufacturing town.

The water power afforded by the James, the New, the Appomattox, the Dan, the Staunton, and other rivers, is not surpassed by any in the world and all that is wanted to make this a great and powerful State is energy and capital.

With just and equal laws Virginia may become again, what it has been, one of the first States of the Union.

THE TARIFF BILL has been defeated in Congress; but KOHN & FISHEL, of the ST LOUIS STORE, 111 Front street, will sell their New Stock of GENTS CLOTHING and FURNISHING GOODS at rates defying competition.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THEOBOLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, 89 First Street, has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL, Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco with ALL THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS, is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art.

ASTORIA LOT SALE

THE PROPRIETOR OF THE TOWN OF ASTORIA, in order to [illegible] forward its improvements offers to the public the greater part of the [illegible] within the corporate limits, on terms that will [illegible]

The property will be divided into six hundred parcels and distributed among the purchasers by lot. One half the parcels will be single lots [illegible]

As soon as the shares are all taken, the distribution will be made by [illegible] Judge, County Clerk or Sheriff, and [illegible] The drawing will be certified by the [illegible] and warranty deeds will be immediately executed in accordance therewith and delivered to the purchasers or to their authorized agents, who will pay the purchase money on receipt of the deed. The title is a patent certificate under the Donation Law.

[illegible] patrols of land with [illegible] equal value for the purposes of distribution [illegible]

Situate in the mouth of the Columbia river at the only spot where a town can be built with a harbor of sufficient capacity to shelter a large amount of shipping and accessible by both ocean ships and river boats in all weathers, Astoria can have no rival as the entrepot for the commerce of the river. Rivals have been projected, but rarely [illegible] mark their sites—while Astoria has grown steadily up to the condition of a respectable little city, and increases faster every year than it did the year before.

On the two points between which ships enter the river are the two Forts Stevens and Hancock, in full view of the town with their wharves, warehouses, barracks and officers' quarters, each a respectable village, where the Government has entered upon a series of works which, with their garrisons, will involve the disbursement of millions of dollars. And, considering that it is the gate to an interior country of three embryo States besides Oregon, all glittering with veins of gold and silver, no expense is likely to be spared in guarding it. The travel and traffic between that region and San Francisco is already immense. It will never cease, nor can it be [illegible] crossing. And there, at the gate, will stand Astoria, and all the steamships and river boats must come to her wharves as they ply the ever increasing commerce of four States. Three regular lines of steamships are now employed, and at certain seasons extra ships are made. At present they extend their voyages to Portland, and if no change in that respect is ever made, still the prosperity of Astoria is sure. It is now exhibiting a greater proportionate increase in buildings, business and wealth than any other town on the Pacific coast. No real estate is so sure of a constant advance, and none so likely to take a sudden rise to many times its present value. That it is offered for sale at home, among those who know it best and who can appreciate the liberality of the offer, proves that it possesses all the value and advantages attributed to it, and presents a tempting opportunity for either speculation or investment. Why, then is the offer made? Why is the property put into a raffle at prices which average less than half the selling rates? Only because the sales to citizens for actual improvement at full prices, at the rate of three to five thousand dollars a year, on time, as heretofore, is no longer adapted to the circumstances of the proprietor, who has become an invalid, and must hasten to accomplish the improvements and enterprise which he has in hand.

The following extracts from a letter published in the New York Independent, of September 25th 1866, from Prof. Wood, who made the tour of the Pacific States last summer, gives the impressions of a sagacious and impartial stranger:

ASTORIA, OREGON, Aug 11, 1866.

"I write from this renowned place. Astoria stands upon the left bank of the Columbia, ten miles from its final commingling with the ocean. A narrow interval of level ground from tide to bluff, say two miles in length by two furlongs in width, affords convenient and pleasant footing for, at present, about seventy white buildings, including custom house, court house, hotels, stores, shops and dwellings. Several fine dwellings also stand high up on the hills to the rear, enjoying a landscape in front of marvelous beauty. Astoria enjoys a climate of remarkable salubrity. Diseases may exist, but I hear nothing of them, and the atmosphere perfumed by the vast coniferous forests, or purified by the expanse of the waters of the Pacific, brings only health and vigor to these shores. Hence it is a favorite resort for invalids and tourists from the interior, in search either of health or recreation. It is occupied and controlled by a population chiefly of New England origin. They maintain an efficient public school, now under the direction of a graduate of Yale, for the education of their two hundred children.

"Astoria occupies a position geographically, which should entitle her to supremacy in commerce, as the New Orleans of the Columbia, and the Astorians maintain that she is yet destined to attain it. At present, however, Portland is the undoubted metropolis, a city located one hundred miles above this, not on the Columbia but on its chief tributary, the Willamet. This is an anomaly yet readily explained. The valley of the Willamet is by far the largest and best agricultural district in the State, and Portland is its mart, while the region back of Astoria is yet forest, with only here and there a small section subdued. For this good reason, at present Astoria has less than 1,000 inhabitants while Portland has 6,000; and for the other good reason, its commanding position, this little city is the only port of entry for the State. The future importance of Astoria seems inevitable, and must more than keep pace with the development of her agricultural resources."

The seventy houses estimated by Prof. Wood were at that time more than a hundred, and since then the largest and most costly store in the town has been built, and a church, steam saw mill, brewery and one of the best tanneries on the Pacific coast, together with wharfing and the usual annual addition of dwellings and other buildings. Another church is to be built next season and a number of houses are under contract. Each summer the carpenters are overtasked. Next season the demand will be greater than ever. Workmen of all trades are greatly needed. This is their opportunity; this is everybody's opportunity; every person should own some property at the seaport and summer resort of Oregon. To improve and use, there is none so eligible for health, schools and profitable employment. As merchandise it will sell for profit, none will give so great an advance on cost. As a means to lay up money for the future no other is so safe, or will return so many fold. Not a ticket but will draw a fifty dollar lot and two thirds of them will draw prizes of two, four and six lots each, or a lot worth from two to [illegible] times its cost. In such a raffle every one should try his luck.

Mr C P Ferry is agent in Portland to issue certificates, or title bonds, and has at his office a map of the town, showing the parcels or shares into which the property is divided, and a photograph of a portion of the town and of the cottage homestead which constitutes the capital prize. Each purchaser of a ticket will give to Mr Ferry his duebill for the purchase money, payable when he receives a deed for the property which he shall draw. The distribution is expected to come off within two months, judging from the rapidity with which the shares are being taken—over a hundred having been taken in Astoria alone in the last few days.

REFINING WORKS,

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

WM. C. RALSTON,	A. HAYWARD,

LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A. CARNETT . . . . President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON, JR. . Chemist and Superintendent.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the mining and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One eighth of one per cent (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 300 to 600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 600 to 750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 750 to 949½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

CHARGES AT U. S. BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution.

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 300 to 600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 600 to 750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 750 to 850 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 850 to 949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce.

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ¼ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the returns which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage.

850 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents.

845 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents.

86 par to equal San Francisco A. & R. Works return at refining charge of 8 cents.

How Big Guns are Cast—A Pittsburg Foundry.

[From the New York Herald]

The casting of heavy ordnance requires the nicest calculation and the most extreme care, else [illegible] will be thrown away, and the profit and loss account of the manufacturer most materially [illegible]. The government inspection is scrupulously rigid, and if there be found in the casting the least flaw, no matter if its extent be only sufficient to admit a pin's head, the piece will be rejected as unfit for service These rejected pieces can be, however, broken up and melted over into other ordnance. The following is the process pursued in the manufacture of heavy guns The establishment is divided into three compartments, viz: The foundry proper, the pattern shop and the boring mill. The wooden pattern of the piece to be cast having been made in halves, each half is laid down on a platform, the oval side upward. A "flask," or covering for the protection of the mould, is then placed over the pattern, leaving about three inches between itself and the pattern. This space is then filled with the moulding sand which is rammed down tightly and receives the impress of the pattern on every part of its interior surface. The pattern, be it remembered, is simply the gun in wood, being in size, shape, etc., exactly what the piece is expected to be when lifted from the pit. When the mould has been finished and has remained sufficiently long to receive the impression of the pattern thoroughly in every part, its halves are put into a massive [illegible], where they are subjected to a baking process that renders them sufficiently hard to become [illegible] for the molten iron of which the gun is to be made. Then they are bolted and pasted together by a preparation of cement, and lowered into a pit constructed for the purpose. This pit is [illegible] all around on the inside, and has grate bars at the bottom, on which a fire can be built [illegible] on each side of it, reaching to and [illegible] with the surface of the ground, are also put [illegible] a draught of air will enable the fire to burn well when lighted. Fuel is then put on the grate bars. What is termed the "core barrel" is then introduced into the mould that now [illegible] perpendicularly in the pit (in which position the gun is always cast). This core barrel is a hollow tubing, presenting the appearance [illegible] of a fluted column, and is, before being put into the pit, wrapped around evenly with hempen cord, and covered with paste. [illegible] the bore of the gun, and to insure the [illegible] casting of the piece, it must be adjusted to the exact center of the mould. Inside of this [illegible] placed a small hydrant pipe, which extends to within one inch of the bottom of the [illegible] through this pipe cold water is introduced, which, traversing the inch of space at the bottom, [illegible] fills the barrel, whence it is [illegible] by a surface pipe. The use of the water [illegible] apparent. Meanwhile the molten [illegible] of which the gun is to be made is seething in [illegible] furnace. From this furnace to the [illegible] pit runners or leaders are now laid, and, [illegible] being readiness, the furnace is tapped, and away goes the molten lava like matter [illegible] the course of the runners into the [illegible], standing perpendicularly in the pit. The [illegible] being filled, the furnace tap is now closed, [illegible] influx of iron stopped. The fuel which had [illegible] loosely placed around the inner side of [illegible] is now speedily ignited by dropping into [illegible] molten iron, and the pit is then entirely [illegible] with segments of sheet iron. The [illegible] is now continually rushing through the [illegible] tube and circulating around the inside of [illegible] barrel until it reaches the surface, when [illegible] off by a drain, as above described. This [illegible] the tendency to cool the inside of the gun, while the fire above the grate bars keeps the [illegible] of it still heated. Herein consists [illegible] improvements made in casting ordnance, [illegible] General T. J. Rodman obtained a patent, and ordnance cooled in this manner are known as "Rodman guns." That portion of the [illegible] is first cooled becomes the hardest part [illegible], and by the introduction and continued action of water, on the Rodman principle, [illegible] stronger than the outer surface. Formerly, when by natural action the guns cooled from the outer surface inward, the spongy iron—[illegible] able to resist the pressure of a discharge—[illegible] invariably on the inside, and in close contact with the propelling power; but, by the Rodman [illegible] the strongest and hardest part of the [illegible] is its inner surface, thus lessening the [illegible] of explosion, if not in fact obviating [illegible] entirely. The cooling process of a gun of [illegible] calibre occupies about five days, while [illegible] of a twenty inch piece takes up about two [illegible]. Whenever the water comes up to [illegible] drain of a temperature exactly equal [illegible] had on entering the core barrel, [illegible] is known to be sufficiently cooled for removal.

[illegible] crane, near which the casting pit [illegible], is then brought into requisition to [illegible] this removal. This huge piece of mechanism has an arm of Brobdignagian proportions outstretched over the pit, and from it are dangling [illegible] chains. These are firmly attached to [illegible] in the pit, and the power of the steam [illegible] which sets the crane in motion is applied, [illegible] raises the monster cannon, apparently [illegible] as a fond mother would lift her infant [illegible] the cradle. A strongly built platform car [illegible] ready to receive the huge load from the [illegible] of the crane, and on this it is safely deposited and taken to a massive lathe in the boring [illegible], where it is bored and receives its [illegible]. When taken from the pit the [illegible] of the piece is rough and bark-like in appearance, and it is placed in the lathe to have [illegible] surface removed, which process is performed by the use of turning tools somewhat after the manner of wood turning. The piece has [illegible] to be shortened to its required length, for, [illegible] casting it is made longer than it is intended [illegible] finished. This extra length is added [illegible] mould for the purpose of making sure [illegible] the muzzle of the gun will be of the hardest and most solid character. The superfluous [illegible] piece, which is removed by a stationary tool, against which the gun revolves, [illegible] the "sinking head," and varies from [illegible] and a half to four feet in length. When [illegible] taken off it can be re-melted for another [illegible]. Although the core barrel occupies [illegible] cylindrical space or hollow of the gun when [illegible] the mould, it is much smaller in diameter [illegible] the bore of the piece is intended to be, and [illegible] that the diameter must be [illegible] to the size called for by the calibre of [illegible]. To effect this a boring rod is introduced [illegible] the muzzle, after the "sinking head" has been [illegible], and while the outer surface of the piece [illegible] turned and smoothed, this auger-like implement is gradually working its way into the [illegible] of the monster, giving its bore the necessary [illegible]. When this is done the inner [illegible] polished, and the gun is fit for the [illegible] process. This is gone through with [illegible] the proving ground, distant two miles from the [illegible], where the resistive force of the piece is put to the severest test. A charge of ammunition, [illegible] greater than the gun will ever be loaded with when called into active service, is put into it and fired. One of two things must now take place, [illegible] the gun stands the discharge uninjured, or [illegible] well, in any other event, that gun it would be [illegible] hard to locate! The proof firing having been satisfactory, the Government official again inspects it (it has been once inspected before coming [illegible] the foundry), and it becomes the property of the United States. The time generally occupied, from the casting of a piece to its delivery to the Government, is, for a ten-inch gun, four [illegible], for a fifteen-inch columbiad, six weeks, and for a twenty-inch monster, nine weeks.

The capacity of the Fort Pitt Foundry may be judged from the following statement: The number of hands employed in all its departments is in the neighborhood of two hundred. Six air furnaces are used in melting the iron, the united melting capacity of which is over two hundred tons. [illegible] mammoth lathes are employed in turning and boring the pieces, all of which lathes receive [illegible] motive power from a double engine having two eighteen inch cylinders and two feet stroke of piston. This engine, by the way, is a great curiosity in itself to any one versed in mechanism. Each of the huge cranes (eight in number) has a separate engine attached to it, and is capable of lifting fifty tons weight. The pits for casting are fifteen in number, and each one is capable of receiving the mould of a large columbiad. The ground floor of the foundry, as well as the yard, is gridironed all over with railway tracks, for the purpose of conveying the guns in any direction. Everything, in fine, is in the most complete order for the manufacture of ordnance, and the establishment can turn out as many Rodman or Dahlgren pieces (the only kind it casts) as the Government may [illegible] at the shortest notice. A lot of fifteen inch army guns is now being finished up—the first of a new order received from the United States Government not long since Of course there is not so much hurry and drive in this establishment now, as there was during the war, though the action of the Government in determining on an [illegible] fortification of the coasts afford abundant employment for the resources of the foundry, which is the only one where twenty inch guns can be cast. Besides casting guns, however, the proprietors are engaged in supplying the Government with shells and cannon balls. The shells are cast in separate moulds, but the balls are cast in clusters, and afterwards separated by being turned apart, after which they are polished with emery and painted.

Besides the work demanded for the United States Government, however, a considerable quantity is sometimes manufactured for other nations. The authorities of a neighboring republic lately sent an order here for the manufacture of a quantity of ordnance for sea coast defense, and this order is now being completed. Six eleven-inch army guns of the Dahlgren pattern have been finished, and four pieces of fifteen-inch and twelve of nine-inch (Dahlgrens) are in process of completion. Besides these a number of nine-inch shell have been cast and are now being boxed up (uncharged, of course) for shipment Each one of these has to be strapped transversely with tin strips, which are all fastened at the lower end upon a wooden sabot. Attached to this tinwork is a ropeyarn handle for each shell, by which it is lifted into the gun when required

The republics of South America might profit by this foundry Had such columbiads as those now here, and a proper supply of these shells been put on the defense of Valparaiso, for instance one year ago, the wanton and almost total destruction of Chile's principal seaport by the Spanish fleet would not have been a matter of facile accomplishment. When a proper disposition shall have been made of this ordnance on the Chilean coast, any opposing imperial force will have cause to regret having challenged to the combat by these republican-born bull dogs of iron The cost of finished guns is about ten cents per pound for small and twenty cents for heavy ones The only other foundries in the United States where ordnance is manufactured are the Algiers Foundry in South Boston, the Scott Foundry at Reading, Pa , and the West Point Foundry at Cold Spring, N Y. The first mentioned casts only light pieces for field use, at Reading but little is now being done, and the West Point establishment is almost exclusively engaged in producing small guns of the "Parrott" pattern.

SODIUM AMALGAM SUPERSEDED IN GOLD SAVING.—The gold set free in extremely minute particles from crushed quartz, etc , is covered with an impalpable powder, which shielded from the action of the mercury intended for its separation, and thus a considerable amount of gold dust is lost. In addition to this, the mercury thrown into a state of minute division by the agitation employed, being covered by the same impalpable powder, is incapable of reuniting, a considerable portion therefore assumes the appearance of fine powder, and is carried off with the refuse, and thus a large amount of mercury is wasted. These two sources of loss have caused a great diminution of profit It was, however, fortunately ascertained that the brilliancy of the mercury is restored, so that it can run together freely and unite with the gold, with the greatest avidity, if a minute quantity of sodium amalgam is added to it. Hence, sodium amalgam is now an important article of commerce. It is considered highly explosive, and therefore very dangerous; but such is not the case. The explosive property of pure sodium on coming into contact with water, is lost almost entirely when it is associated with mercury so as to form an amalgam But sodium amalgam is now likely to be superseded by a far less expensive, and it appears not less urgent material Caustic soda has not only been found quite as effective as sodium amalgam, but it is contested that the sodium in the amalgam actually assumes the form of caustic soda before producing effects. A very simple experiment will show the efficacy of the soda. If a finely pulverized metallic powder is thrown into water, no amount of stirring will cause it to fall to the bottom of the vessel, it is rendered specifically lighter than the fluid by the coating of air which adheres to it. But if a very small quantity of caustic soda or potash is added it will very soon descend from the surface to the bottom. It is supposed that the minute particles of mercury also, and of gold are prevented from coming in contact by a coating of air, which the alkali removes in a way which has not yet been ascertained. This, if the real, is probably not the only effect produced by the alkali. The potash of soda must not be allowed to lose its causticity by exposure to the air during transport, etc., or it will be ineffective; it may have become a carbonate without those who use it being aware of the fact.—Mining Index.

A BLACKSMITH WHIPPED BY A CLERGYMAN.—An occasion for "dispensing with the gospel" transpired at Newport, Vermont, a short time since, the particulars of which we copy from the Newport Express, as follows:

Reverend M Bullard was, on Wednesday last, brought before Justice Robinson, of this village, charged with assaulting and severely beating and bruising one S. S. Call. The affray took place on the 8th inst., in the blacksmith shop, at Newport Centre, where Call was at work at his trade. In religious views this Call is an Adventist. He believes there is no resurrection for the wicked. It appears that he and Mr. Bullard have had frequent and rather heated discussions upon this subject, which seem to have culminated in a fight with "carnal" weapons. On the afternoon of the 8th inst., Bullard stepped into the shop, where, as usual, a controversy ensued in relation to time, place and manner of discussion which had been partly agreed upon by the parties, Call having, as he said, found a man who would discuss the question with Mr. Bullard. Both, no doubt, became greatly excited, and Call used very harsh and abusive language.

Of the encounter, Call says he was about taking an iron from the fire, when Bullard coming up behind, seized him and threw him down, striking his head upon a sled standing in the shop; that Bullard then asked him if he would stop preaching this doctrine; that, answering in the negative, Bullard again commenced jamming his head upon the floor, and striking him with his fist about the head and face, he in the meantime crying "murder" and calling for help. Bullard testified in the same manner substantially, only that Call struck at him with the redhot iron, aiming the blow at his head, that he warded off the blow with his right hand, which was considerably burned; that then he (Bullard) clinched him. He thought that, as they fell, Call's head no doubt struck the sled, as blood was left on the sled; he admitted that he struck Call several times, and might perhaps have jammed his head upon the floor a few times.

MR. BEECHER THANKS GOD HE WAS NEVER ABLE TO SMOKE A WHOLE CIGAR.—Here let me say one word in respect to tobacco. I do not propose to join myself to those who make a general, sweeping declamatory attack upon it. I do not propose to go so far as to say that those who are addicted to its use ought absolutely and utterly to break off the habit. But I may implore those who have not yet become addicted to this habit to stop and ask themselves, in the spirit of all manliness, what good end is to be subserved by their addiction to so expensive a habit, which, though it may be agreeable to them, is disagreeable to all about them What good end of life, or luxury, or comfort, is there in this habit, that should induce a man to pass through the nauseous state of probation through which every man has to pass who acquires it? So almost universal is the use of tobacco that it seems to me that a young man who does not use it in any form has a right to say, "I have a badge of honor." I have a certain feeling that one who is free from the habit has an eminent virtue I am proud to say I never used tobacco. Although in the year just preceding my college days, I did tamper with it a little, I never formed the habit even of smoking I never was able to smoke a whole cigar, thank God, and I was no sooner able to smoke half of one than I felt that that was enough, and gave up meddling with the vile weed. Ever since then I have been absolutely free from its taint And every one of my own mother's sons have been of like cleanness. I should be proud if the name might go down without the color or smell of tobacco on it

Governor Patton, of Alabama, appears to have a difficult task to perform. Though desiring the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment, he feels the necessity of seeming to be opposed to its provisions. So while telling the people how bad the measure is he urges them to take it, for if they refuse, a Territorial government will be placed over them. In a recent speech at Huntsville, he said the South was as much in the power of Congress as Lee was in the clutches of Grant, and it was their duty to surrender as Lee and Johnston did. He furthermore declared that Davis should have given up the contest two years before he did, when he could have done so without dishonor, and have saved thousands of lives and vast sums of money. He warned the South against continuing the contest too long Accept the Amendment, said he, and save yourselves from the still more exacting conditions which will result from rejection

The speech of the Governor, which is at considerable length in this strain, appears not to have exerted much influence on the Southern people, who have made up their minds to take the Amendment under no circumstances.

Fountain of Life!

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS AR[ise] when a new direction is imparted to its course Thus epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy now offered to the public in connection with the theory on which it is based is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood. The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts, it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Esculapius down to the present time in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed, it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the storm ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting

☞ Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made —provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE

I would refer you to L L Beck, of Portland, Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco Post Office Box 252.

Consultations FREE.

How Big Guns are Cast—A Pittsburg Foundry.

[From the New York Herald]

The casting of heavy ordnance requires the nicest calculation and the most extreme care else labor will be thrown away, and the profit and loss account of the manufacturer most materially increased The government inspection is scrupulously rigid, and if there be found in the casting the least flaw, no matter if its extent be only sufficient to admit a pin's head the piece will be rejected as unfit for service These rejected pieces can be, however, broken up and melted over into other ordnance The following is the process pursued in the manufacture of heavy guns The establishment is divided into three compartments, viz: The foundry proper, the pattern shop and the boring mill The wooden pattern of the piece to be cast having been made in halves each half is laid down on a platform, the oval side upward. A "flask," or covering for the protection of the mould, is then placed over the pattern leaving about three inches between itself and the pattern. This space is then filled with the moulding sand which is rammed down tightly and receives the impress of the pattern on every part of its interior surface. The pattern, be it remembered, is simply the gun in wood being in size shape, etc., exactly what the piece is expected to be when lifted from the pit When the mould has been finished and has remained sufficiently long to receive the impression of the pattern thoroughly in every part, its halves are put into a massive oven, where they are subjected to a baking process that renders them sufficiently hard to become receptacles for the molten iron of which the gun is to be made. Then they are bolted and pasted together by a preparation of cement, and lowered into a pit constructed for the purpose This pit is bricked all around on the inside, and has grate bars at the bottom, on which a fire can be built Flues on each side of it, reaching to and flush with the surface of the ground are also put in, so that a draught of air will enable the fire to burn well when lighted Fuel is then put on the grate bars. What is termed the "core bar" is then introduced into the mould that now stands perpendicularly in the pit (in which position the gun is always cast). This core bar is a hollow tubing, presenting the appearance almost of a fluted column, and is, before being put into the pit, wrapped around evenly with hempen cord, and covered with paste It forms the bore of the gun, and to insure the proper casting of the piece, it must be adjusted in the exact center of the mould Inside of this is now placed a small hydrant pipe, which extends to within one inch of the bottom of the barrel; through this pipe cold water is introduced, which, traversing the inch of space at the bottom, rises gradually and fills the barrel, whence it is carried off by a surface pipe. The use of the water will become apparent. Meanwhile the molten iron of which the gun is to be made is seething in the melting furnace. From this furnace to the casting pit runners or leaders are now laid, and, everything being in readiness, the furnace is tapped, when away goes the molten lava like mad, following the course of the runners into the mould, standing perpendicularly in the pit. The mould being filled, the furnace tap is now closed, and the influx of iron stopped. The fuel which had been previously placed around the inner side of the pit is now speedily ignited by dropping into it some molten iron, and the pit is then entirely covered over with segments of sheet iron. The cold water is now continually rushing through the hydrant tube and circulating around the inside of the core barrel until it reaches the surface, when it is led off by a drain, as above described. This has the tendency to cool the inside of the gun first, while the fire above the grate bars keeps the outer portion of it still heated Herein consists the improvements made in casting ordnance, for which General T. J. Rodman obtained a patent, and ordnance cooled in this manner are known as "Rodman guns." That portion of the gun which is first cooled becomes the hardest part of the piece, and by the introduction and constant circulation of water, on the Rodman principle, is much stronger than the outer surface. Formerly, when by natural action the guns cooled from the outer surface inward, the spongy iron—not being able to resist the pressure of a discharge—burst invariably on the inside, and in close contact with the propelling power; but, by the Rodman system, the strongest and hardest part of the gun is in its inner surface, thus lessening the chances of explosion, if not in fact obviating them entirely. The cooling process of a gun of fifteen inch calibre occupies about five days, while that of a twenty inch piece takes up about two weeks time. Whenever the water comes up to the surface drain of a temperature exactly equal to that it possessed on entering the core barrel, the gun is known to be sufficiently cooled for removal.

An immense crane, near which the casting pit is always dug, is then brought into requisition to effect this removal. This huge piece of mechanism has an arm of Brobdingnagian proportions outstretched over the pit, and from it are dangling enormous chains. These are firmly attached to the piece in the pit, and the power of the steam engine which sets the crane in motion is applied, and up comes the monster cannon, apparently as easily as a fond mother would lift her infant from the cradle. A strongly built platform car is already ready to receive the huge load from the iron arm of the crane, and on this it is safely deposited and taken to a massive lathe in the boring department, where it is bored and receives its finishing touches. When taken from the pit the outside of the piece is rough and dark like in appearance, and it is placed in the lathe to have this rough surface removed, which process is performed by the use of turning tools somewhat after the manner of wood turning. The piece has now to be shortened to its required length; for, in the casting it is made longer than it is intended to be when finished. This extra length is added to the muzzle for the purpose of making sure that the muzzle of the gun will be of the hardest and most solid character. The superfluous spongy piece, which is removed by a stationary tool, against which the gun revolves, is called the "sinking head," and varies from three and a half to four feet in length. When this is taken off it can be re-melted for another casting. Although the core barrel occupies the cylindrical space or hollow of the gun when in the mould, it is much smaller in diameter than the bore of the piece is intended to be, and consequently that the diameter must be increased to the size called for by the calibre of the gun. To effect this a boring rod is introduced at the muzzle, after the "sinking head" has been removed, and while the outer surface of the piece is being turned and smoothed, this auger-like implement, is gradually working its way into the bowels of the monster, giving its bore the necessary dimensions. When this is done the inner surface is polished, and the gun is fit for the "proving" process. This is gone through with at the proving ground, distant two miles from the city, where the resistive force of the piece is put to the severest test A charge of ammunition, much greater than the gun will ever be loaded with when called into active service, is put into it and fired. One of two things must now take place, either the gun stands the discharge uninjured, or else—well, in any other event, that gun it would be rather hard to locate! The proof firing having been satisfactory, the Government official again inspects it (it has been once inspected before coming from the foundry), and it becomes the property of the United States. The time generally occupied from the casting of a piece to its delivery to the Government, is, for a ten-inch gun, four weeks, for a fifteen inch columbiad, six weeks, and for a twenty-inch monster, nine weeks.

The capacity of the Fort Pitt Foundry may be judged from the following statement: The number of hands employed in all its departments is in the neighborhood of two hundred. Six air furnaces are used in melting the iron, the united melting capacity of which is over two hundred tons. Thirty mammoth lathes are employed in turning and boring the pieces, all of which lathes receive their motive power from a double engine having two eighteen inch cylinders and two feet stroke of piston. This engine, by the way, is a great curiosity in itself to any one versed in mechanism Each of the huge cranes (eight in number) has a separate engine attached to it, and is capable of lifting forty tons weight. The pits for casting are fifteen in number, and each one is capable of receiving the mould of a large columbiad The ground floor of the foundry, as well as the yard, is gridironed all over with railway tracks, for the purpose of conveying the guns in any direction Everything, in fine, is in the most complete order for the manufacture of ordnance, and the establishment can turn out as many Rodman or Dahlgren pieces (the only kind it casts) as the Government may require, at the shortest notice. A lot of fifteen inch army guns is now being finished up—the first of a new order received from the United States Government not long since Of course there is not so much hurry and drive in this establishment now as there was during the war, though the action of the Government in determining on an increased fortification of the coasts afford abundant employment for the resources of the foundry, which is the only one where twenty inch guns can be cast. Besides casting guns, however, the proprietors are engaged in supplying the Government with shells and cannon balls. The shells are cast in separate moulds, but the balls are cast in clusters, and afterwards separated by being turned apart, after which they are polished with emery and painted.

Besides the work demanded for the United States Government, however, a considerable quantity is sometimes manufactured for other nations. The authorities of a neighboring republic lately sent an order here for the manufacture of a quantity of ordnance for sea coast defenses, and this order is now being completed Six eleven inch army guns of the Dahlgren pattern have been finished and four pieces of fifteen inch and twelve of nine-inch (Dahlgrens) are in process of completion Besides there a number of nine inch shell have been cast and are now being boxed up (uncharged of course) for shipment Each one of these has to be strapped transversely with tin strips which are all fastened at the lower end upon a wooden sabot Attached to this tinwork is a copper handle for each shell, by which it is lifted into the gun when required

The republics of South America might profit by this foundry Had such columbiads as those now here, and a proper supply of these shells been put on the defense of Valparaiso for instance one year ago the wanton and almost total destruction of Chile's principal seaport by the Spanish fleet would not have been a matter of facile accomplishment When a proper disposition shall have been made of this ordnance on the Chilean coast, any opposing imperial force will have cause to regret having challenged to the combat by these republican born bull dogs of iron The cost of finished guns is about ten cents per pound for small and twenty cents for heavy ones The only other foundries in the United States where ordnance is manufactured are the Algiers Foundry in South Boston the Scott Foundry at Reading Pa and the West Point Foundry at Cold Spring, N Y The first mentioned casts only light pieces for field use at Reading but little is now being done and the West Point establishment is almost exclusively engaged in producing small guns of the Parrott pattern

SODIUM AMALGAM SUPERSEDED IN GOLD SAVING —The gold set free in extremely minute particles from crushed quartz etc is covered with an impalpable powder, which shields it from the action of the mercury intended for its separation and thus a considerable amount of gold dust is lost. In addition to this, the mercury thrown into a state of minute division by the agitation employed, being covered by the same impalpable powder, is incapable of reuniting a considerable portion therefore assumes the appearance of fine powder and is carried off with the refuse and thus a large amount of mercury is wasted These two sources of loss have caused a great diminution of profit It was, however fortunately ascertained that the brilliancy of the mercury is restored so that it can run together freely and unite with the gold, with the greatest avidity, if a minute quantity of sodium amalgam is added to it Hence, sodium amalgam is now an important article of commerce It is considered highly explosive, and therefore very dangerous but such is not the case The explosive property of pure sodium on coming into contact with water, is lost almost entirely when it is associated with mercury so as to form an amalgam But sodium amalgam is now likely to be superseded by a far less expensive, and it appears not less urgent material Caustic soda has not only been found quite as effective as sodium amalgam, but it is contested that the sodium in the amalgam actually assumes the form of caustic soda before producing effects A very simple experiment will show the efficacy of the soda. If a finely pulverized metallic powder is thrown into water, no amount of stirring will cause it to fall to the bottom of the vessel, it is rendered specifically lighter than the fluid by the coating of air which adheres to it But if a very small quantity of caustic soda or potash is added it will very soon descend from the surface to the bottom It is supposed that the minute particles of mercury also, and of gold are prevented from coming in contact by a coating of air which the alkali removes in a way which has not yet been ascertained This, if the real, is probably not the only effect produced by the alkali The potash of soda must not be allowed to lose its causticity by exposure to the air during transport, etc., or it will be ineffective, it may have become a carbonate without those who use it being aware of the fact —Mining Index.

A BLACKSMITH WHIPPED BY A CLERGYMAN —An occasion for "dispensing with the gospel" transpired at Newport, Vermont, a short time since, the particulars of which we copy from the Newport Express, as follows:

Reverend M Bullard was, on Wednesday last, brought before Justice Robinson, of this village, charged with assaulting and severely beating and bruising one S S Call. The affray took place on the 8th inst., in the blacksmith shop, at Newport Centre, where Call was at work at his trade. In religious views this Call is an Adventist He believes there is no resurrection for the wicked. It appears that he and Mr Bullard have had frequent and rather heated discussions upon this subject, which seem to have culminated in a fight with "carnal" weapons On the afternoon of the 8th inst, Bullard stepped into the shop, where, as usual, a controversy ensued in relation to time, place and manner of discussion which had been partly agreed upon by the parties, Call having, as he said, found a man who would discuss the question with Mr. Bullard. Both, no doubt, became greatly excited, and Call used very harsh and abusive language.

Of the encounter, Call says he was about taking an iron from the fire, when Bullard coming up behind, seized him and threw him down, striking his head upon a sled standing in the shop; that Bullard then asked him if he would stop preaching this doctrine; that, answering in the negative, Bullard again commenced jamming his head upon the floor, and striking him with his fist about the head and face, he in the meantime crying "murder" and calling for help Bullard testified in the same manner substantially, only that Call struck at him with the redhot iron, aiming the blow at his head, that he warded off the blow with his right hand, which was considerably burned, that then he (Bullard) clinched him. He thought that, as they fell, Call's head no doubt struck the sled, as blood was left on the sled, he admitted that he struck Call several times, and might perhaps have jammed his head upon the floor a few times

MR. BEECHER THANKS GOD HE WAS NEVER ABLE TO SMOKE A WHOLE CIGAR —Here let me say one word in respect to tobacco I do not propose to join myself to those who make a general, sweeping declamatory attack upon it. I do not propose to go so far as to say that those who are addicted to its use ought absolutely and utterly to break off the habit. But I may implore those who have not yet become addicted to this habit to stop and ask themselves, in the spirit of all manliness, what good end is to be subserved by their addiction to so expensive a habit, which though it may be agreeable to them, is disagreeable to all about them What good end of life, or luxury, or comfort is there in this habit, that should induce a man to pass through the nauseous state of probation through which every man has to pass who acquires it? So almost universal is the use of tobacco that it seems to me that a young man who does not use it in any form has a right to say, "I have a badge of honor" I have a certain feeling that one who is free from the habit has an eminent virtue I am proud to say I never used tobacco Although in the year just preceding my college days, I did tamper with it a little, I never formed the habit even of smoking I never was able to smoke a whole cigar, thank God, and I was no sooner able to smoke half of one than I felt that that was enough, and gave up meddling with the vile weed Ever since then I have been absolutely free from its taint And every one of my own mother's sons have been of like cleanness I should be proud if the name might go down without the color or smell of tobacco on it

Governor Patton, of Alabama, appears to have a difficult task to perform. Though desiring the ratification of the Constitutional Amendment, he feels the necessity of seeming to be opposed to its provisions So while telling the people how bad the measure is he urges them to take it for if they refuse a Territorial government will be placed over them In a recent speech at Huntsville, he said the South was as much in the power of Congress as Lee was in the clutches of Grant and it was their duty to surrender as Lee and Johnston did He furthermore declared that Davis should have given up the contest two years before he did when he could have done so without dishonor and have saved thousands of lives and vast sums of money He warned the South against continuing the contest too long Accept the Amendment, said he, and save yourselves from the still more exacting conditions which will result from rejection

The speech of the Governor, which is at considerable length in this strain, appears not to have exerted much influence on the Southern people who have made up their minds to take the Amendment under no circumstances

GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER!

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARISE [illegible] its importance [illegible] discovery [illegible] hangs the whole aspect of the science [illegible] at Kennedy [illegible] will it is hoped is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the disease of

SCROFULA AND KING'S EVIL!

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE being composed entirely of vegetable extracts it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Esculapius down to the present time in the arcana of Medical Science which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most [illegible] physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed It can in no way be more easily and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER [illegible] they must shortly need the blessings of life and health [illegible] and thus its merit as an article of real value to [illegible] During the storm of public opinion the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test triumphantly [illegible] Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made—provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE:

I would refer you to [illegible] of Portland, Oregon and numbers of others as to what a miraculous effect it has in a short time in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co
